The Alberta Bear

In commemoration of the 50th Anniversary of the Faculty of Kinesiology, Sport, and Recreation and the opening of the new Physical Activity and Wellness Centre (PAW), a life-sized cast bronze bear has been commissioned to stand guard at the north entrance of the new Centre. The Alberta Bear, not to be confused with the Golden Bears (the university's men's varsity sport teams), reflects the university, the province and the natural heritage of Alberta. Be Bold, Be a Bear!

The mark of the bear signifies characteristics of the Faculty of Kinesiology, Sport, and Recreation and what we are as a whole - knowledge, transformation, tradition, excellence and diversity. The bear is a symbol to guide one to take leadership in their life. Its presence inspires respect. Its strength and power inspires action and the confidence to stand up against adversity.

About the Artist

Cathryn Jenkins is a widely known Canadian sculptor whose work has received many awards, such as the American Women Artists (AWA) Award in 2004, First Place award for 3-Dimensional Works, Lewis Clark Center for Arts and History in 2003 and the Paul Harris Award in 1994.

Raised in the Selkirk mountains of British Columbia, Cathryn developed a love of the natural world, the local wildlife, and her surroundings at a young age.

As the daughter of prominent sculptor Fran Jenkins, Cathryn spent many hours in her mother's studio, and began working alongside her at the age of 14, building the skills and passion for sculpting in stone. Sculpting has been her lifelong vocation and passion ever since.

Years of dedication to her art form has allowed her to work large while still maintaining the essence, movement, agility and true promotions of her wildlife subjects - such as grizzlies and eagles, cougars, otters and owls.

Currently, she is a full-time sculptor living in Langley, BC, Canada.
